ACTIVITIES REPORT 2003

letter of the president

Dear Friends,

Although the economic growth index has been almost nil in 2003, it has been an important year for Brazil. The catastrophic forecasts that dominated the electoral period of 2002, with negative reflections on the economy, were shown to be untrue. The country has shown, once again, that it has a robust democracy and a growing consensus in reducing poverty and social inequalities is being formed. For 2004 we have a more positive outlook, with a 3 to 4% growth rate and low inflation levels. Let's hope that these forecasts become real and that the sustainable development processes the country so badly needs will become reality. The private sector has been getting more and more involved in social programs, which is a good omen, as well as concrete evidence of the consensus for change I have mentioned above. Unfortunately 2003 was a very bad year for Non-Governmental Organizations (NGO). Adverse international economy and the war in Iraq had a strong negative impact on NGO's resources and operations. CARE Brazil, however, has been able to maintain and expand its activities. It has obtained good results in the programs that are already implemented (in the States of Bahia and Rio de Janeiro) and has initiated two new programs – one in Sao Paulo and another one in Piaui. Both are at their initial fundraising phase. These results show the efficiency of the methodology used by CARE Brazil. Brazil is a relatively rich country (11th World Economy) but with an extreme unequal income distribution (fourth worst in the world). This helps us understand why it is essential to build a Brazilian donors base. We are sure that most Brazilians are aware of the unacceptable levels of poverty and want to do something to reduce it. It is thus indispensable to reach this majority and help them to become active, convince them to share our ultimate goal: the eradication of poverty. We have started this effort in 2003 and already have about 1000 donors "Fundadores". These are people who trust our work. In the name of the Deliberative Council, CARE Brazil wants to thank these people who have given us their trust, and urge them to help in our work, so that we can mobilize a greater number of potential donors in the next years.

Bolívar Lamounier

about CARE

vision

CARE seeks a Brazil without poverty, with social justice, hope and pride of its diversity, where the population can live with dignity, security and stability. CARE Brazil works in partnership with civil society, private companies, the State and CARE International, moving towards the eradication of poverty in Brazil and the world.

mission

The mission of CARE Brazil is to serve the poorest communities and families of the country, potentializing the experience, the diversity and the resources that exist in Brazilian society and in CARE International. We strive to be a catalyzing agent in the process of social transformation, creating long-term solutions to eradicate poverty.

CARE international

CARE has been active for 58 years and in 72 countries in sustainable social development Programs, fighting the roots of poverty, as well as in emergencies situations. It is supported by individuals, private companies, Governments and international organizations such as the United Nations, the European Union, the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank.

brasil

poverty in numbers

It is estimated that 50 Million Brazilians live in a situation of poverty and that of these 30 Million live in extreme poverty lacking minimum survival conditions, such as a house, food, clean water and income, as well as other resources necessary to live in dignity. It has to be mentioned that there is a great variety in the data and criteria available to reach these figures.

Brazil, being the 11th economy in the world, has enough resources to overcome the poverty of its population. 16% of the GPB is invested in social areas today, but only 0, 4% of these go directly to help the poorest.

CARE brasil

When CARE initiated its activities in Brazil, in August 2001, it brought with it a great deal of experience, developed and implemented in different regions of the world and systemized in form of methodologies that were obtained in over 58 years of institutional learning. We take this apprenticeship as a methodological and conceptual reference; and at the same time try to observe and take into consideration the possibilities of adapting and implementing the methodologies that are closer to our social, political, economical and cultural reality in Brazil. With this in mind, we try to draw CARE's place in Brazilian society, taking in consideration, above all, the families, the local context and recent history of civil society's fight against poverty and for citizen rights.

programs and strategies

CARE's strategic interventions try to attack the cause of poverty and not their consequences, thus understanding poverty as a complex phenomenon, with historical, social, political, economical and cultural origins.

CARE has thus chosen to work with Education and Work and Income Generation as a main catalyst of change. Implementing, monitoring and evaluating the Programs and Projects have a participative and forming character, allowing so for the strengthening of social movements, making them a first in the process of overcoming poverty.

We seek local development from 5 basic and inter-related principles:

- Social Inclusion
- Strengthening of local economy
- Innovation of public administration
- Natural Resource Administration and Environmental Protection
- Social Mobilization

sul da bahia

The program is developed in five areas of the Cacao Region in the South of the State of Bahia: in the city of Ilheus: Dom Helder Camara Settlement and Tupinamba Indian Area; in Una: Fortaleza Settlement; Itabuna: Ribeirao Seco and in Itacare: Porto de Tras Community. The goal is to improve the families' quality of life through income increase (investing in fishing, collecting shellfish, increasing agricultural production and commercializing the production), strengthening of social organizations that represent the population and developing of their administrative capacity, social representation and access to Rights. The Program targets over 400 families.

"We already have faced many problems, but today we see that together we can overcome these obstacles."

Josenice Souza Franca, from Acuipe do Meio tribe

The indigenous Community of Tupinamba Indians regains its self-esteem through ethnic affirmation and improvement in its living conditions, as well as official recognition of their conditions as Indians. Investments in the South of Bahia Program allowed the increase of cultivated areas, the diversification of cultures and the adoption of new planting and fertilization techniques. As a result the Acuipe do Meio Tribe has already harvested 22 tons of organic papaya which resulted in a notable increase in the family's monthly income. For the year of 2004 an increase in production is foreseen, once the plants mature. "We want this result to expand to all communities. We already have faced many problems, but today we see that together we can overcome these obstacles." Says Nicinha, as Josenice Souza Franca from the Acuipe do Meio tribe is known.

programs

rio de janeiro

The program is developed in three shantytowns in the city of Rio de Janeiro: Morro do Timbau, Nova Holanda and Mare Complex and Parada de Lucas. The objective is to potentialize and promote the inclusion of youngsters and their families through education, culture and art and the understanding of the need of a continuum process of investigation of the city and poverty pockets for the construction of favorable environments and promising futures capable to revert the actual situation. Today the program reaches 700 youngsters.

"I want to continue working with CEASM and give other youngsters the opportunity to study and so be able to take their families out of poverty".

Tais Paiva da Felicidade, inhabitant of Mare

Thousand of students try to enter into a Brazilian University. This is also the case of Tais Paiva da Felicidade, 21 years old, inhabitant of Mare, Rio de Janeiro. The story of Tais is the same as for thousands of other youngsters who face difficulties in finding a better future. The difference is that Tais had the opportunity to know and to frequent the pre-entry courses of CEASM, in partnership with CARE, offered in conjunction with the Nova Onda Program in Mare. "My goal is to guarantee my formation and to be able to share my knowledge with other Mare inhabitants. I want to continue working with CEASM and give other youngsters the opportunity to study and so be able to take their families out of poverty, she explains.

north of piaui

The program was developed in the cities of Pedro II and Parnaíba. The objective is to promote the social inclusion of youngsters and adolescents in both cities through formation and training in work and income generating processes and also make youngsters participate in the development process of the region. The program is still in its implementation period and during its initial phase it will help 300 adolescents and youngsters in risk situation in Pedro II and Parnaíba.

"I believe in the people of the field and I believe that it is possible to change their reality."

Sister Celina, coordinator of EFA

The Municipality of Pedro II shows the same situation as many Municipalities in Brazil: most of the 3.000 families living in the rural area are exposed to unemployment or under-employment, although the municipality shows a great potential, still unexplored, in commercializing semi-precious stones (opals); use of small animal skin (sheep) and agricultural production.

One of the actions developed by the "Agricultural Family School" is to improve the agricultural production, adding value to the work and creation of new opportunities, so avoiding the exodus to bigger cities. "I've learned that soil humanizes Men. Of all places I knew the field is the one with most human content. I believe in the people of the field and I believe that it is possible to change their reality. CARE is bringing this hope to people here. We can and we have to contribute so that people in rural areas are able to live happily, with citizenship and dignity." Clarifies Sister Celina, coordinator of the Agricultural Family School (EFA).

The Program has been developed in the metropolitan area of Sao Paulo, in the Districts of Perus and Anhanguera, through a Local Development Forum, which brings together the public and private sectors and civil society. The goal is to improve the living quality of local families, through access to income and work. This is done through new models of public actions; governmental and of society, and private sector.

The Program will reach 320 youngster, adults and unemployed people in risk situations; residents of the District and will help the local population.

“The creation of the Forum has shown us that, in an organized way, it is possible to bring in more partners that will strengthen a popular initiative that strives for the common well”.

Luzia Maria Honorato, of COOPERCOSE

The area of Perus/Anhanguera has an enormous potential in income generation activities related to eco-tourism. Inside the Local Development Forum the Program is being planned with the participation of different social movements and local leaderships, which are part of it. “The creation of the Forum has shown us that, in an organized way, it is possible to bring in more partners who will strengthen a popular initiative that strives for the common well”. Luzia Maria Honorato, of COOPERCOOSE, one of the organizations that are part of the Perus Forum.

auditors

auditor's opinion

Our financial demonstrations from the period from 1st of July 2001 to 30th June 2002 and 1st of July 2002 to 30th June 2003 are being audited by Ernst Young Independent Auditors, who, besides examining the mentioned demonstrations, also made "in loco" inspections at the programs. The present auditing is in process and it is expected that it be concluded soon. Until now no adjustments or material differences have been found and the work has been done in an adequate manner, according to the norms of auditing generally accepted in Brazil.
